Environmental Awards - 2011

The Aune Conservation Association intends to award up to £1000 per year to encourage environmental studies anywhere on the River Avon in the South Devon AONB. Projects must be for public benefit and be concerned either with the conservation, protection or improvement of the physical or natural environment of the river or with public education towards those same goals. Proposals are invited from individuals or organisations and will be assessed by a panel assembled by the ACA.
